Presentación

La Dirección General Marítima (Dimar), a través de sus centros de investigaciones oceanográficas e hidrográficas del Pacífico y Caribe, presenta la publicación oficial Pronóstico de mareas de Colombia, documento técnico que pone a disposición de navegantes, autoridades marítimas, investigadores y comunidades costeras información actualizada sobre los niveles y ciclos mareales en los principales puertos del país.

El pronóstico de mareas constituye una herramienta fundamental para la seguridad marítima, la planificación portuaria y la gestión del riesgo costero, al proporcionar una referencia precisa de los cambios periódicos en el nivel del mar. Su elaboración se sustenta en la observación continua de los mareógrafos de la Red de Medición de Parámetros Oceanográficos y de Meteorología Marina (RedMpomm) nacional, perteneciente a la Dimar, el análisis armónico de las series temporales y la aplicación de estándares internacionales de control de calidad y referencia vertical.

Los centros de investigaciones científicas marinas, como unidades técnicas de la Dimar en el Pacífico y Caribe colombianos, consolidan con esta publicación el esfuerzo institucional por mantener y fortalecer la infraestructura mareográfica nacional, garantizando la generación de productos confiables que apoyan la toma de decisiones en los ámbitos científico, operativo y ambiental.

Con la edición de esta publicación, correspondiente al pronóstico para el año 2026, la Dimar reafirma su compromiso con el monitoreo permanente del nivel del mar y la difusión de información oceánica de libre acceso al público, con la cual contribuye a la seguridad integral marítima y al desarrollo sostenible de las zonas costeras de Colombia.

Glosario

Bajamar. Altura mínima alcanzada por el agua durante una marea. También se conoce como marea baja (Dimar e Ideam, 2024).

Elevación estándar o datum de marea. Nivel de agua estandarizado determinado por el paso de la marea durante un período definido en la Tierra, el cual está relacionado con las características oceanográficas de una región (NOAA, 2022).

Mareas. Movimientos periódicos del mar que tiene una amplitud coherente y una relación con alguna fuerza geofísica periódica (Álvarez, Pulido, Solano, & Oviedo, 2018).

Marea astronómica. Abultamientos de agua generados en la Tierra debido a la sumatoria entre la fuerza centrífuga, producida por el movimiento rotacional de la Tierra; la fuerza de gravedad, producida por la Luna durante su órbita alrededor de la Tierra, y la fuerza de atracción gravitacional, generada por el Sol, la cual es de aproximadamente la mitad que la de la Luna (Dimar e Ideam, 2024).

Marea meteorológica. Marea originada por las variaciones de la presión atmosférica y de la velocidad y dirección de los vientos (Dimar e Ideam, 2024).

Marea de cuadratura o marea muerta. Abultamiento que se presenta cuando las posiciones del Sol y la Luna forman un ángulo casi de noventa grados respecto a la Tierra, lo que da lugar a fuerzas gravitacionales menores al promedio que disminuyen la altura de las mareas (Dimar e Ideam, 2024).

Marea de sicigia o marea viva. Abultamiento de agua que ocurre cuando una alineación de la Luna, la Tierra y el Sol genera fuerzas gravitacionales mayores a las del promedio, que producen unas mareas mayores a las normales (Dimar e Ideam, 2024).

Pleamar. Altura máxima alcanzada por el agua durante una marea. También se conoce como marea alta (Dimar e Ideam, 2024).

1. Las mareas en Colombia

1.1. Generalidades de los litorales colombianos

Colombia cuenta con dos amplias costas que bordean el mar Caribe y el océano Pacífico, cada una con características geográficas, climáticas y mareográficas muy diferentes, pero unidas por la dinámica oceánica que condiciona la vida y las actividades costeras del país (Dimar, 2020; CCO, s.f.).

La interacción entre el océano y la atmósfera en las costas colombianas determina procesos como la formación de lluvias, la variabilidad climática y la ocurrencia de fenómenos extremos (CCO, s.f.). En el Caribe el clima es cálido, con predominio de condiciones áridas y semiáridas, especialmente en La Guajira, donde se presenta un ambiente desértico (Ideam, s.f.). Las lluvias varían según la región: el sur del Caribe presenta un régimen monomodal, con una temporada lluviosa entre abril y noviembre, mientras que en el norte es bimodal, con máximos de precipitación entre mayo-junio y septiembre-noviembre (IGAC, 2018; Pérez y Martínez, 2019). La influencia de la zona de confluencia intertropical (ZCIT) y los vientos Alisios regulan la temperatura superficial del mar y la evaporación; mientras que en el Pacífico el clima es cálido súper húmedo, con lluvias intensas y persistentes a lo largo del año, excepto en algunos sectores donde se observan periodos secos cortos (Dimar, 2020). En Nariño predomina un régimen de lluvias monomodal, concentrado entre abril y junio (Dimar, 2020). La dinámica está fuertemente condicionada por el fenómeno El Niño-Oscilación del Sur (ENOS), que altera la circulación oceánica y la distribución térmica (CCO, s.f.). Estos procesos son monitoreados por Dimar y la Comisión Colombiana del Océano (CCO) para mejorar la predicción climática y la gestión del riesgo costero (Dimar, 2020; CCO, s.f.).

1.2. Fundamentos conceptuales de pronóstico de mareas

1.2.1 Naturaleza de las mareas.

Las mareas son los movimientos de ascenso y descenso del nivel del mar que ocurren de forma regular cada día. Su principal causa es la atracción gravitatoria que ejercen la Luna y el Sol sobre la Tierra (Fig. 1), lo que genera grandes abultamientos de agua en los océanos. A medida que la Tierra gira estas zonas de agua elevada se desplazan, dando origen a los ciclos de pleamar (marea alta) y bajamar (marea baja) que se observan en las costas (Egorov, 1966).

Aunque la fuerza de atracción es el factor más importante, no es el único que influye. La forma de la costa, la profundidad del fondo marino y la ubicación geográfica de cada región también modifican la altura y la duración de las mareas. Por eso, en algunos lugares del mundo las diferencias entre mareas altas y bajas son pequeñas, como en el Caribe colombiano, mientras que, en otros, como en el Pacífico colombiano, pueden superar los cuatro metros (González, 2009).

Las mareas se clasifican según su origen en:

- Marea astronómica, la cual depende de los movimientos de la Tierra, la Luna y el Sol, por lo que puede predecirse con gran precisión.

- Marea meteorológica, la cual está influenciada por el viento y los cambios de presión atmosférica, por lo que puede variar de un día a otro (Fiore, D'Onofrio, & Grismeyer, 2008).

Figura 1. Representación de las fuerzas involucradas en la generación de la marea astronómica. (Fuente: Álvarez et al., 2018).

1.2.2 Tipos de mareas y su comportamiento en Colombia.

El comportamiento de las mareas no es igual en todas partes del mundo. En algunos lugares el mar sube y baja una sola vez al día, mientras que en otros lo hace dos veces. Esta diferencia permite clasificar las mareas según la cantidad de ciclos diarios que se observan.

Cuando se presenta una marea alta y una baja en un mismo día lunar, se habla de una marea diurna. Si, por el contrario, se registran dos mareas altas y dos bajas, el ciclo se denomina semidiurno. En muchos sitios intermedios ocurre una combinación de ambos comportamientos, con una marea alta más pronunciada que la otra; en esos casos se conoce como marea mixta (Pugh, 1987).

Figura 2. Tipos de marea presentes en las costas de Colombia. (Fuente: Modificadas de: Álvarez et al., 2018).

En Colombia esta variabilidad se manifiesta claramente entre las dos costas (Fig. 2). En el litoral Caribe las mareas son mixtas de desigualdad diurna, con diferencias de nivel, generalmente pequeñas (inferiores a un metro). En cambio, en el litoral Pacífico las mareas son semidiurnas regulares; es decir, se producen dos pleamares y dos bajamares casi iguales cada día, con amplitudes que pueden alcanzar más de cuatro metros en puertos como Buenaventura o Tumaco (Restrepo, 2012).

Además de esta variación diaria, las mareas también cambian con el ciclo lunar. Durante las fases de Luna nueva y Luna llena, cuando la Tierra, la Luna y el Sol se encuentran casi alineados, las fuerzas gravitacionales se combinan y generan mareas de sicigia, caracterizadas por las mayores diferencias entre pleamares y bajamares (Fig. 3).

Por el contrario, en los cuartos creciente y menguante, los astros forman un ángulo recto, lo que hace que las fuerzas se contrarresten parcialmente y se produzcan mareas de cuadratura (Fig. 3), con diferencias de nivel mucho menores (Pugh & Woodworth, 2014).

Figura 3. Alineación del sistema Tierra – Luna – Sol durante las mareas de sicigia y cuadratura.

1.3. Red de estaciones mareográficas y meteomarinas de Colombia

Colombia cuenta con una red de estaciones que registran el nivel del mar y las condiciones atmosféricas en sus principales puertos y zonas costeras, de manera permanente. Esta red, operada por la Dimar, permite conocer el comportamiento del océano en tiempo real, elaborar predicciones confiables de marea y productos operacionales, lo cual redunda en el fortalecimiento de la gestión del riesgo costero.

2. Geodesia

2.1. Datums de marea y su aplicación

Los datums de marea son niveles de referencia vertical determinados a partir del análisis estadístico de los registros de nivel del mar obtenidos de la RedMpomm. Cada año, los centros de investigación de la Dimar realizan un control de calidad y estandarización de los datos para mantener la consistencia y trazabilidad de cada datum de marea. Estos niveles se expresan en unidades de altura y sirven como referencia para medir profundidades, cotas y elevaciones empleadas en hidrografía, cartografía náutica, construcción costera y estudios oceanográficos (NOAA, 2022). Conociendo su valor es posible transformar mediciones entre distintas referencias verticales mediante operaciones aritméticas simples. Las principales abreviaciones de los datums, expresadas en inglés, se muestran en la Figura 5.

2.2. Datums de referencia para los pronósticos de marea

Para los pronósticos de pleamares y bajamares de 2026 se adoptó como referencia la marea astronómica más baja (LAT, por sus siglas en inglés), definida como el nivel mínimo que puede alcanzar la marea durante un ciclo astronómico de 19 años, sin considerar efectos meteorológicos (NOAA, 2022).

En la región Caribe el datum aplicado fue el LAT para todas las estaciones. Sin embargo, para el canal navegable del puerto de Barranquilla, sobre el río Magdalena, se utilizó la marea más baja (LW, por sus siglas en inglés) observada, calculada a partir de los registros obtenidos entre 2019 y diciembre de 2024, y se debe remitir al boletín que se emite semanalmente en la página del Centro de Investigaciones Oceanográficas e Hidrográficas del Caribe (CIOH). En la región Pacífica también se adoptó el LAT, lo que permite mantener una referencia uniforme para la elaboración de los pronósticos de marea.

Figura 5. Representación gráfica de los datums de marea.

2.3. Red de vértices geodésicos de referencia

Desde 2016, la Dimar ha consolidado su propia red de vértices geodésicos de referencia, conformada por 95 marcas fijas entre pilastras y mojones incrustados, distribuidos alrededor de los principales puertos del país. Estos puntos materializados sirven como referencia horizontal y vertical para las estaciones mareográficas y meteomarinas, reduciendo los errores en las mediciones del nivel del mar y en la determinación de los datums de marea (Álvarez et al., 2018; Oviendo Barrero et al., 2021). La red geodésica permite vincular las observaciones mareográficas a un sistema de referencia geocéntrico, en cumplimiento de los estándares de la Organización Hidrográfica Internacional (OHI), y facilita las labores de calibración y nivelación de las estaciones. La calidad de los datos depende, en gran medida, de la estabilidad y precisión de estos vértices.

Los metadatos y la ubicación de los vértices geodésicos pueden visualizarse y descargarse a través del Geovisor de la Dimar: https://ide.dimar.mil.co/IDE/RedVertical/
